Fifth Stay of Sentence Granted To Levin By U. S. Judge

BIG SYNDICATE "HINTED" TODAY

Chicago Newspapers of Opinion Levin Has Confessed

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Disclosures which government officials indicated might develop into a prohibition enforcement scandal of huge proportions have been made in connection with a federal inquiry into Chicago's $800,000 a month beer syndicate.

The rumblings came on the heels of the fifth stay of prison sentence granted Abe Levin, wealthy certificate broker, and the resignation of James L. McDowell, assistant United States attorney.

While government officials, who talked freely, but refused to be quoted officially, asserted important disclosures are now before a federal grand jury here, the Herald and Examiner said that Levin had made a confession involving high government officials.

The grand jury has information, the government men said, which shows connection between a powerful eastern syndicate, federal agents and Chicago officials. The federal men charged that the head of the syndicate has remarkable influence in certain quarters. This connection pointed to the resignation of McDowell, who has been in charge of the case before the grand jury.

Attaches of the federal office said higher-ups in the beer syndicate, reported to control eleven breweries, which have been supplying Chicago with beer, have been named to the grand jury.

Investigators added that a leader in the syndicate approached one brewer, asking for $50,000 on the statement that it must be given to a high Washington official. Charges by McDowell that prominent Illinois politicians were behind his resignation were denied by them.

Levin's application for his fifth stay of sentence, after he was given a two years prison sentence last May, was heard by Judge Claude Lutz, of Superior, Wis., in the presence of Mrs. Mabel W. Willebrand, assistant United States attorney general. The Herald and Examiner said that the Levin confession was made to Mrs. Willebrand, who is taking it to Washington.

NEGRO SURRENDERS FOLLOWING KILLING

Joe Aldridge Gives Up After He Is Said To Have Shot Wife

Joe Aldridge, negro, today was in the Morgan County jail awaiting a hearing in connection with charges of having slain his wife Friday night near their home west of Crowton.

Reports of the trouble were received by the sheriff's office last night and Deputy Sheriff Ben Poole left immediately for the scene. Aldridge, however, came into the city and walked into the Albany city hall and surrendered.

Later he was transferred to the county jail.

Deputy Poole stated that Aldridge gave jealousy as the cause of the trouble between himself and his wife Dolly Aldridge.

October Export Total Shatters Cotton Records

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Cotton consumed during October amounted to 543,679 bales compared with 488,266 during September this year and 534,283 during October last year, the census bureau announced today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Exports of raw cotton during October were larger than in any month for more than 10 years. Census bureau monthly report today showed 1,421,482 bales sent abroad during the month, or almost double the quantity exported in September this year and half a million bales more than in October last year.

Not since February, 1915, when 1,501,700 bales were sent abroad has so large a quantity of cotton been exported. Exports both in October and November, 1913, exceeded a million and a half bales.

TERM CONCLUDED BY COUNTY COURT

Much Is Accomplished During The Week By The Court

The Morgan County court, in session this week, concluded the current term late Friday and adjourned, after having accomplished a large amount of work.

In the matter of disposition of cases, the current term was declared to have been very successful, an unusually large portion of the docket having been cleared during the term. The court took up the criminal docket, civil docket and appeal docket from municipal courts and by yard work managed to get through with a large number of cases.

MRS. LANSLOWNE, widow of Commander Lansdowne, tells a story that will interest the President.

This woman, plunged in grief, knowing that her husband had been killed because his superiors disregarded his objection to their plans, was subjected to pressure of a most disgraceful kind.

Men, representing the navy sought to make her testify to a falsehood, to save her husband's superiors from the condemnation they deserved.

ARMY and navy personages inclined to put officers on trial will find material in the officers that tried to bully an unfortunate woman and extort false testimony from her. A trial of those men would please the people of the United States considerably more than the trial of Colonel Mitchell, who told the truth and served the public.

Dr. A. M. Roan, well known local physician, Dr. B. F. Austin, district health officer for the United States public health service and Dr. L. R. Murphree, county health officer of Limestone County, have returned from Dallas, Texas, where they attended the meeting of the Southern Medical Association.

The physicians today reported a most interesting meeting in Dallas. Dr. Mayo and Dr. Haggard were among the prominent speakers delivering addresses to the medical visitors. The session, which continued several days, brought forth a most profitable discussion of medical problems.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Atlanta, Ga.

ENGLAND in spite of her unemployed, diminished trade, coal troubles, etc., goes along cheerfully. Good King George has gone to shoot with the Earl of Iveagh.

As they proceed through the estate, shooting as they go, a traveling kitchen accompanies them. Servants carry their guns, load them, hand them up when the time comes to shoot.

Sometimes "six guns" in one day's shooting bring down as many as 1,000 pheasants and 500 partridges.

It is a most noble, glorious and inspiring sport, every bit as exciting as it would be to enter the Earl of Iveagh's chicken yard, shooting right and left.

IN BRITAIN it is called "sport." There is one advantage. It enables the traveling American to buy, all cooked, for four shillings or less, a pheasant that has cost the Earl of Iveagh twenty shillings, merely for the pleasure of killing it.

WIDE INTEREST IN THE HEARING

Girl Died 29 Days After Taking Fatal Dose Of Poison

(Associated Press)

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Nov. 14.—The D. C. Stephenson murder case went to the jury at 11:46 o'clock today. Stephenson and his bodyguards, Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry were charged with murder and assault in connection with the death of Madge Oberholtzer of Indianapolis, who took poison, after it is alleged that she was abducted and carried to Hammond, Ind.

She died 29 days after taking the poison.

Stephenson, who was a former dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana, was tried with his "henchmen" in a spectacular trial which caused interest throughout the country.

It is uncertain how long the jury will be out.

Both sides claim victory. Stephenson, Klenck and Gentry heard today the state's last plea for forfeiture of their lives in payment for that of Madge Oberholtzer, as Ralph Lane, of state's counsel, made his address before turning over the case to Judge W. M. Sparks, from whence it went to the jury.

Assertions by the defense that "paid prosecutors" and a "political conspiracy" was behind the state's case were denied by Kane.

CHURCHES BLAMED LAY INACTIVITY

Members Must Be Told What To Do By Organization

(Associated Press)

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 14.—Idleness of church members is due largely to the failure of the church to give them employment, was the opinion expressed today by J. M. Way, associate secretary and treasurer of the board of lay activities of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, before the annual conference of the denomination now in session here.

In his address Mr. Way stressed stewardship and the Wesley Brotherhood movement as the two points of emphasis in the laymen's organization for the ensuing conference year. "It is not enough merely to tell men that they ought to work for the church," Mr. Way declared. "They must be told what to do, how to do it and must be kept on the job year in and year out."

Continuing, Mr. Way said: "There is no place in the church for idlers. The task of making this world Christian is big enough and hard enough to call for the services of every man, woman and child who professes faith in Jesus."

Tracing the development of the laymen's movement in the church, the speaker said that the general conference of 1922 had to a certain extent standardized lay activities in the denomination, and found 10,000 laymen waiting for the church to place its seal of approval on such lines of work has grown by leaps and bounds, he said, and in less than two years the circulation of the "Methodist Layman" has grown to 25,000. While progress is seen on every hand lay activities are just getting a good start in Southern Methodist, he asserted.

Mr. Way advocated the doctrine of Christian stewardship as the ideal way for financing church enterprises. He said that many local churches had been re-made spiritually and financially through intelligent persistence through Christian stewardship. "I believe that such cultivation will remake along desirable lines any congregation that undertakes it," Mr. Way stated, "but it is a shame for us to undertake such a task and then through carelessness and indifference do a superficial work. Stewardship cannot be taught effectively by men who do not practice it themselves."

The Wesley Brotherhood, Mr. Way explained, is an organization of Methodist men throughout the denomination which has for its purpose the carrying on of distinctive lay activities in co-operation with all of the other departments of church work. This organization, he said, has been especially effective in the field of personal evangelism. Wherever the Brotherhood is in oper-

OFFICERS ELECTED BY COUNTRY CLUB

Report of Nominating Committee Accepted By the Membership

Officers of the Valley country club were chosen last night, the membership, at a regular meeting, accepting the report of the nominating committee, announced several weeks ago. Charles T. Rountree, who has served as president of the club since its organization, was selected to succeed himself last night.

Reports of officers for the year closing showed the club has enjoyed substantial and steady growth and optimism of the membership was high.

Officers for the ensuing year, as elected last night, are: Charles Rountree, president. Fred S. Hunt, vice-president. Thomas A. Bowles, second vice-president. W. W. Fussell, treasurer. Henry R. Davis, secretary. Board of governors: J. F. Smithers, D. D. McGeehee, Sidney Patterson, A. S. Malone.

Hugh Stanislaus Strange, co-author of the dramatization of Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen," will lecture to the students of the Decatur High school Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock, it was announced today. Patrons of the school are invited to hear Mr. Strange at four o'clock at the school auditorium. The lectures are being given under the auspices of the Decatur Parent-Teacher Association.

Delegates Leave For Convention

Dr. and Mrs. Austin, Mrs. T. L. Liston and daughter, Jean, Helen Kingsbury and Miss Elizabeth Wallace and Oscar Morrow will represent the Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church in the district convention in Huntsville today and tomorrow.

There is a live, working Methodist congregation, he asserted. Mr. Way reported that in order to center the emphasis of the laymen on Christian stewardship and the Brotherhood movement these departments have been recently put in charge of experts. Rev. J. M. Crawford, Fort Worth, Texas is secretary of Christian Stewardship, and Fred T. Barnett Nashville is secretary of Wesley Brotherhood.

COMMISSION GOES INTO SESSION FOR ITS LAST MEETING

Two Members Gather To Write Report To Chief Executive

DIAL PRESIDES BY USE OF PROXY

Recommendations Will Be Made Late Saturday

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—With only two members present the Muscle Shoals commission went into final executive session today to complete details of the draft of the majority report, which will be presented to President Coolidge this afternoon.

After submitting the report, the commission automatically will be dissolved. Former Senator Dial, who held the proxy of Chairman McKenzie, presided over the meeting, which was attended by Russell Bower, the other majority member.

The commission has no information as to when William McClellan and Harry A. Curtis will file their minority reports. They are expected to send it to the white house later by mail.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Captain Paul Foley was relieved, at his own request, by Secretary Wilbur today as judge advocate of the Shenandoah court of inquiry. He resigned that he might appear as a witness in the court martial of Colonel William Mitchell, to report to Mrs. Margaret R. Lansdowne, who alleged that an attempt was made to influence her testimony before a court of inquiry.

Officers Elected By the Agoga Class

The Agogas class of the Central Baptist church held a short business session at the church Thursday evening electing the following officers: Roy Kirby, president; John Wilkes first vice president; Pervin Love, second vice president; Spurgeon Speer, third vice president; Lucien Bloodworth, secretary; Garnett Young, treasurer.

Following the business meeting, the members of the class adjourned to the Palace cafe, where a very enjoyable oyster supper, was served to the 32 members of the class and three guests, Mr. Greenhill, the treasurer, T. E. Williams and J. P. Matlock.

SYNOPSIS
David Lacy, victim of a nocturnal motor accident on Long Island, is making his way out of the ditch when he is halted by two strangers, who make him accompany them and board a rowing boat on the Sound. One of his companions is "Doc." The other, a young woman, is "Sweetie." Meanwhile, Connemara Moore, a young heiress, garbed now as a nun, finds herself aboard a yacht, being chased by revenue officers. Connie was to have announced her engagement tonight—but didn't.

CHAPTER VII—Continued

He smiled tenderly at her. "I knew you'd do it for me," he said softly.

The little boat rolled crazily through the waves. The big man seemed to be taking a well-known course, for he steered purposefully, guiding himself by the rays of the flashlight. They tolled on in silence, soaked and tempest-tossed.

Abruptly the engine gave a petulant sigh and ceased functioning. Doc used language, then resorted to manual labor. In vain he pulled and oiled and wrenched. The Idle Hour tossed miserably, going as the waves took it.

"Hey, you," the big man growled at David. "What do you know about engines?"

"All," said David modestly. He bent beside Doc, and together they strove to make the aged engine listen to reason.

Across the water came the throbbing of a powerful motor and the swish of waves scoured neatly by a sharp bow. Sweetie caught Doc's sleeve.

"Just a minute, there, feller," she said.

There was a curious dull sound, as the revolver butt met his head.

The big man raised his head and listened. Cautiously he used his flashlight, as the sounds drew nearer. Crossing their path was a big black motor boat, long and flowing of line. David sat up sharply, his hands gripping the edge of the seat.

From the larger boat came a woman's voice, high and shrill with terror.

"McTish!" it roared desperately.

"McTish!"

David leaped to his feet in the wildly rocking boat.

"McTish!" he roared across the angry water.

As he called the girl had sprung up on the seat behind him. Her arm came swiftly down; there was a curious dull sound, as the revolver butt met his head.

Slowly and not ungraciously Mr. David Lacy crumpled up in a heap in the bottom of the boat.

CHAPTER VIII

H. O. Wirtz

By H. C. Wirtz

In the same instant that the fear-stricken Connemara screamed wildly for McTish, with the prehensile fingers of Mr. Pooch pawing at her throat, the utter absurdity of her appeal struck her. The idea of the little, flame-haired, candidly drunk Scotchman in the role of knight errant would have changed her shriek of fear to one of mirth—under other circumstances. Just now, however, Connemara's sense of humor was conspicuous by its absence! A panicky terror gripped her, mingled with amazement. Where was the owner of the familiar voice that had just echoed her frenzied scream "McTish!" across the water? Who was—?

Scores of Letters Yet To Be Read

(Associated Press)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 14—Scores of other love letters remained to be introduced in Leonard K. Rhinelandt's annulment suit, when the trial is resumed Monday. Already 52 fervid illiterate epistles have been read aloud and Irvin Hirlin and Al Jolson have been dragged in as mythical rivals for the hand of the negro woman the young aristocrat married.

Although the main contention of the plaintiff is that his wife deceived him as to her negro blood, the main evidence so far has tended to establish that she was constantly urging marriage, partly by recalling their visits to hotels and partly by jealousy.

One "Eddie" is constantly mentioned among various named and unnamed admirers and yesterday young Rhinelandt left a stand a few minutes for Edward Holland, a young fireman to testify.

12 Years Ago TODAY

From The Daily of November 14, 1913

Prisoners at the county jail were reported to have "shot craps" for breakfast and ended the game in a fight, during which one prisoner was hit over the head with a bucket.

Mr. and Mrs. George Asa Nelson have returned from St. Louis, where they have been attending the National Good Roads convention.

Fifty were in attendance at the meeting of the Hobson club at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The Vanderbilt football team, after having signal drill here at Copeland park Friday afternoon, left at 2:45 o'clock Saturday morning on a special coach for Birmingham to meet Auburn Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Echols are in Birmingham today to attend the football game between Auburn and Vanderbilt.

Only 42 more days until Christmas—laugh that off.
Waiting on Christmas is not like waiting on Congress—
Christmas gets here.

There were a great many who saw lots of fun in The Daily article of several weeks ago in which the story was told of a second crop of buds and blossoms. Now comes the same report from Gadsden where there has been discovered a second growth of grapes and peaches. Yeal Truth is stranger, even if some do regard it as rare.

LAWRENCE COUNTY TIMES AND MOULTON ADVERTISER REAPPEAR

The Lawrence County Times and Moulton Advertiser, published at Courtland for sometime, and later suspended, again makes its appearance this week, under the management of Hannigan and Norris.

The Daily is in receipt of the first issue of the journal under the new management and congratulates the new proprietors on the paper's splendid appearance and interesting stories of the Courtland section of Lawrence county.

If the first issue is to be taken as an indication of the owners' ambitions, The Daily is confident that the people of Courtland will give the paper the support it so obviously deserves.

Mr. Hannigan, one of the new owners, is well known in this community, having been engaged in the newspaper business at Athens for some years. On the severance of his connection with the Alabama Courier, the latter paper pays him the following well-deserved tribute:

"Walter Hannigan, so long with the Courier, has bought the Courtland Times and Moulton Advertiser which were consolidated some time ago and with his associate, Mr.
Norris, issued their first paper last week which was filled with interesting matter and many nicely displayed advertisements. Walter is a good printer, has had years of experience and we hope that he and his associate reap a rich harvest in golden eagles. They expect soon to start a paper at Russellville."

CHRISTMAS NEAR AND MISTLETOE MAY MAKE APPEARANCE FOR THE LAST TIME

With Christmas lurking just around the corner of time and plans already being made by the early shopper to lay in a supply of holiday greens, there is a touch of pathos in the announcement that the government has declared war on mistletoe.

The government, press dispatches state, would declare mistletoe a menace to the forests and would seek to have it entirely destroyed.

The Anniston Star mourns for the passing of old customs, finding the war on mistletoe particular disconcerting, for, as the Star points out, not only does it limit the Christmas decorations, but it eliminates the kissing privilege which one standing underneath the mistletoe had enjoyed since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

The Star laments: "But when the mistletoe is gone, what will young folks do at Christmas time to make the season merry with the kissing that the mistletoe is thought to justify? It may be that the agricultural department heads have reached the conclusion that modern youth does not need mistletoe to justify a kiss. Perhaps the old plan may be out of date in the more rapid age in which we are living."

It is doubtful that the agricultural department heads concerned themselves with this particular feature of the anti-mistletoe agitation, yet the explanation offered by the Star absolves the department from all possible censure, for which the department, The Daily is sure, is very much obliged. A mistletoe kiss nowadays probably would be more of a coincidence than an act of design.

The Star cannot be accused of not giving some serious thought even this early to Christmas, for the editor of that splendid newspaper, even is worried about the matter of stockings.

So rapidly are many of the old Christmas customs fading away in the modern rush, that the Star is fearful that the beneficiaries of Santa Claus soon will give up the custom of hanging their stockings over the fire-place on Christmas Eve.

The Daily thoroughly agrees with the Star that the custom should be retained and its passing would be announced with sincere regret by this newspaper. The Daily, however, most humbly begs leave to be voted as "absent" on the theory advanced by the Star that one of the contributing cause to the elimination of the stocking custom is the fact that milady's hosiery now is so sheer,
it wouldn't even hold a respectable sized piece of chewing gum.

THE WORLD IS WAITING FOR THE SUNRISE

In selecting the title for one of the popular melodies of the day, how aptly has the composer of "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise," described, in that random phrase, the attitude of hopeful expectancy which is as much a part of life.

Gropingly through the shadows of evil, the world, thru its numerous years of existence, has continued its way, encountering famine, poverty, anger, murder, theft and lust. Sometimes it has seemed that the world might be encompassed by the darkness, yet always it has gone on, ever looking for the morning, when darkness would give way to light and bring its recompense.

Bereft of hope, the human family would have a sorry time of it. Evolutionists may boast of their belief, atheists may prate of their unbelief, but some Divine agency placed in the human breast the capacity to hope, the ability to suffer sorrow and yet wait for the sunrise.

When human hearts are bowed by their burdens and it seems they cannot carry their cross, God has so constructed the human family that hope is there to make the load lighter.

In the present generation there appear many evidences that the world is in utter darkness. This generation witnessed and participated in the greatest war known in history. Lawlessness never was so widespread as it is now. Standards of morals, fashions, amusement and commerce appear to have reached a new low level.

Yet, there is hope. Never before was so much money spent by Christian organizations in combatting unbelief in Christ. Never was church attendance so great, never was interest and enthusiasm greater. Never was so much money being spent in the construction of roads, churches and schools.

O. O. McIntire, who writes an interesting newspaper column about New York city, says that the churches there are filled every Sunday and that the Wednesday evening prayer services draw large crowds.

If it seems that evil has made more progress in the present generation than ever before, cannot some blame be laid on the fact that conditions fundamentally have changed? Things now, good, bad and indifferent, usually are done on a larger scale. Our capacity for good and our capacity for evil is greater. We have learned to make use of many new inventions. It is but natural that every use of these inventions might not be for the betterment of mankind. They should be, but the human family never has reached a state of perfection and its tendency to err is appreciated.

Quoting once more from Mr. McIntire, he describes a church in the center of the "roaring forties." Services there are held regularly and the mid-week prayer service is a feature of the program every week.

There, in the center of this particular cabaret section, is the American symbol of light, the church. There on Wednesday evenings gather, while jazz bands pour forth their jungle music in adjacent buildings, large groups of people for a quiet service, to sing old and familiar hymns and to reach, if possible, a more personal contact with their creator.

We wonder if it were possible that the composer, disgusted with the bleat of the saxophone in the New York cabarets went to that little New York church to find that, after all is said and done, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise."

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS for the Sabbath and Other Days

BY J. E. BLAIR

Those who wish to be taken seriously, are to be commended, as a rule. There are few people who have improper motives for desiring to be taken seriously. Of course there are some "poor hearts" in which the seed of God's goodness have never sprung up, who desire to be taken seriously in order to put over a trade of some kind.
Such are said to attend church, especially around election time. On the other hand MANY who had as "leave" be taken as a joke, or who actually seek to be taken as a joke, are worse than the "bad"—for they have no personalities. They have no hearts, good or bad, and hence no ideas they wish to use out in the open.

There is more chance for a hypocrite, than one who desires not to have his words taken seriously, and scripture says so in effect. For example, Jacob, the super-hypocrite of the Bible, became Israel the founder of a race.
Why? Why did Jacob become "good" rather than good-natured Esau? Simply because Esau did not care—he was content with being a good fellow and with plenty of deer meat. Jacob desired to be taken seriously—he wanted to have the divine favor. The fact that he and his mother took a wrong course to get it, is merely incidental to the great inspiration of Jacob to get the birthright. The last statement is not to be taken as excusing Jacob from being the damnable crook and "supplanter" that he was; Jacob is mentioned merely as a case in point of where a man who wanted something worthwhile, finally got it. Esau is mentioned to show that being a "good fellow" and "doing no harm" count for little in the economy of God.

Only those who are honest can afford to be taken seriously. Men who do not trust each other's character and judgment, don't "talk over things," they don't plan together.

Such may do "bread and meat" business together, but they will never discuss the King's business together. We must conclude then, that Christ's prayer for "unity"
among His followers will never come as long as "Jacobs" lead forward. And certainly, Christian unity will never come as long as poor, non-serious, food loving Esaus lead forward, or try to!

When Christian people can say to each other in effect: "Well, I believe you know about as much about "right" and "wrong" as I do, hence, I will go in conference with you." Then and not until then, will Christ's prayer be answered. Is it necessary to say, "creeds," professions and "programs" will never unite Christdom?

No. "Programs" will unite however, for people working together are inclined to "get-together." Let us all "program" together, therefore; let all trust all, all it is possible to do. Let us almost "stretch the blanket of truth" to join with all forward movements for righteousness; but under no circumstances must the blanket of truth be torn asunder!

vincingly the sort of optimism that the country needs.

Less suspicion, more open confidence in the country, says Mr.
Atterbury are plain everywhere, and that means better times for every one, including railroads.

The country needs optimism based on cleaner understanding of conditions. There is absolutely nothing the matter with the United States in any direction, except doubt, pessimism.

In one of Racine's tragedies, a devoted wife tells her husband,
"Don't seek to lose yourself and you are saved." That's what should be said to every pessimist in the United States.

THE jury in the Blazer case is unable to agree after fifteen hours deliberation, and Dr. Blazer who killed his crippled, idiotic daughter, after taking care of her thirty-four years, was set free.

The judge told the jury it must convict of murder in the first degree or acquit the man. They did neither. To convict him of murder in the first degree would have been difficult for any jury.

There is, however, danger in the verdict. Other murders may result from what is practically an official decision that men under certain circumstances may use their own judgment about murder.

OF TWENTY-EIGHT students, in the University of Illinois, asked to name the vice-president, fourteen were unable to do it.

If he lives, Vice-President Dawes will change that, and make people know the vice-president.

ONE OF OUR troubles is that the country and its government are too big and too complicated to be understood by all of the 115,000-000 people so widely separated.

What does the word "Seattle" mean to the average man living in Hoboken? What does the fisherman examining his lobster pots, in northern Maine know about Coronado Beach? How many citizens in any of the half dozen biggest states could name the lieutenant-governor of their state? Not one in three.

GEORGE PULLMAN tried to create a city. It was called "Pullman," but as a separate city it didn't work.

Mr. Wood, once president of the American Woolen company decided that he would build a city. A new president of the American Woolen company, Andrew G. Pierce, Jr., moves the company away, and Chawshen will become a deserted village.

A TOWN is like a language or a human being. It must start naturally and grow of its own power.
You can't invent it or create it.

Alexander the Great with his power could establish cities, but they faded away.

"Rush Hours" Cost Money ---and the Consumer Pays

One of the outstanding expenses which the retail grocer is required to support results from personal shoppers who create busy hours in the day and busy days in the week. Larger organization and greater facilities are demanded than is necessary where trade is more evenly distributed. Much idle time results—and the consumer foots the bill.

In the Phone-for-Food grocery store, the work is more evenly distributed throughout both the day and the week. Each hour produces a more uniform amount of business, making possible lower overhead costs which naturally reflect in the consumer's grocery bill.

The Phone-for-Food way of shopping is both a better service to the consumer and an economical
one.

Columbus, Ga.—Mrs. George S. Hunter, of this city, writes:

"After I married, thirteen months ago, I suffered with dreadful pains in my sides during ... My side hurt so bad it nearly killed me. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time. I could not work and I just dragged around the house.

"I got very thin—I went from 125 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had long been a user of Cardui and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve.

"My side hurt less and I began to improve in health ... The Cardui acted as a fine tonic and I do not feel like the same person. I am so much better. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all.

SATURDAY NEWS LETTER

News Bits Gathered From The Four Corners Of The Earth By The Associated Press

(Associated Press)
LONDON, Nov. 14—The question of cocktails in the navy, bobs up every once in a while for discussion in British official circles, as it did before prohibition with regard to the American navy.

The temperance societies would like to bar cocktails from the king's ships along with whiskey and other hard liquors. The admiralty has never thought seriously of putting a ban on mixed drinks in the officer's messes of the royal navy, but the question arose recently whether cocktail recipes should be provided for the barbers and stewards.

The officers requested that all the servants aboard ship should be "supplied with a manual of instructions in the care of silver, crockery, mixing cocktails, etc." but after careful consideration the orders announced that there was "not sufficient justification for recipes for cocktails."

So it appears that, if the officers and their stewards do not know the art of mixing drinks by this time, they cannot have the assistance of the admiralty in conceiving such appetizers.

Wills of the length of short novel have often been written by wealthy men but it has remained for a woman to compose the longest testamentary document recorded in England. It contains 96,940 words, and is the work of Mrs. Frederick Evelyn Stillwell Cook, of Brockenhurst who left an estate of more than £1,000,000 or about $4,850,000.

All the disposition of property which Mrs. Cook desired are in her own handwriting as well as the long list of special bequests, though some of her indexes attached were written by her secretary.

The bulky document filed recently at Somerset House, consists of four books heavily bound in blue leather with additional outer covers. The gilded pages number 1,108, each nine inches square.

The shortest will recorded at Somerset House consisted of three words: "All to mother."

The woes of the organist in the village of Steeple Barton, near Oxford have been considerably lessened by the removal from the church organ of a swarm of bees and 30 pounds of honey, three umbrellas and a number of carefully written sermons.

Difficulty had been experienced for some time in the intonation of the Vox Humana reed which hummed a little out of tune and continued to perform for some little time after the organist had stopped, often leading slow witted members of the congregation to continue into the first verse of the next hymn. Although learned men who have consorted long with bees maintain that these useful insects can hear no sound save their own buzzing, it is said that the bees of Steeple Barton clearly distinguished between various musical compositions, greatly preferring to add their humming contribution to bright and lively tunes. The honey obtained is of a very superior quality.

The presence of umbrellas in the melodious bowels of church organs is a continuous silent annoyance to the English users and clergy and can only be effectually prevented by having the organ pipes open downward instead of upward. No one has yet been apprehended in the act of inserting his umbrella in the organ an act which would probably come under the jurisdiction of the court of arches, but as a number of the umbrellas found are of the curved variety, not easy to drop accidentally, it seems probable they are inserted in a worldly and malicious spirit.

American students are among the most active and staunch supporters of the league of nations at Oxford university. They had a large part in organizing the Oxford international assembly, a body modeled upon the league form and representative of all states and nations, and several have presided over its meetings. A number of Rhodes scholars have conducted league meetings and rallies in the rural and industrial districts in aid of the movement to popularize the league and make it a real force in the guidance of English foreign policy.

Although the cause of the league of nations has met with hard knocks as well as hard words from high places during the current year, the work of its Oxford supporters will be continued by both the league of nations union and the international assembly. The Oxford international assembly last year grew quite out of hand, and is now to be reorganized as a smaller and better-ordered body. The league of nations union, under the presidency of the warden of all souls college, has as speakers for the term Prof. Gilbert Murray, the Greek scholar, who is a leader of English supporters of the league, the professor of Chinese and the professor of international law.

Prices being paid for the transfer of soccer football players by some of the league teams are rapidly approaching the dizzy levels reached in American professional baseball. The wily position of the Cardiff team in the first division of the English league has induced its backers to visit Scotland in search of new material, and in the last two weeks they have paid more than £10,000 for new players. The most costly of these acquisitions was H. Ferguson, who transferred from the Motherwell club cost £5,000, about $25,000.

PARIS, Nov. 14—After giving up his chair at the ministry of finance to Premier Painleve, M. Caillaux went with Mme. Caillaux to his residence at Mamey, with the intention of remaining in complete seclusion until toward the end of the year.

M. Caillaux has greatly resented being dropped from the cabinet and takes no secret of his intention to combat his former friend and chief when M. Painleve appears before the senate to put through his legislation for the restoration of France's finances. M. Caillaux was recently elected senator for the department of Aisne.

When the attention of Premier Painleve was called to the fact that he re-acted throughout the country which the dismissal of the finance minister, he said:

"M. Caillaux was like a chef who came to me with the best of recommendations and references, and then proceeded to do some very bad cooking."

"Lightning conversations," telephone messages which take absolute priority over all other calls and cost ten times the normal rate, will be established throughout Europe by a decision of the International Telegraph Congress, taken during the closing days of its sessions here.

The system has already been successfully worked in Scandinavia, and will now be introduced by mutual agreement between the different countries subscribing to the congress.

Time charges in excess of the first three minutes for all classes of calls will be figured by the minute and not by three minute periods as in the past, the congress ruled.

"Mail from the sky" is to be a reality for the towns along the Paris-London air route. The machines in this service are being fitted with machinery for dropping parachutes to which mailbags will be attached. The pilots will drop the mail by pulling a lever, just as a bomb is released from a war plane. The bag will drop plummet-like until about 300 feet above the ground when the parachute will open and float gently toward the waiting postman. Pilots are expected to release their mail consignments so as to land the parachutes as near as possible to given receiving places.

Premier Painleve took a leaf out of the fruitful experience of vice-president Dawes when he formed his new cabinet. Remembering the eulogistic reports published here of the results obtained by the former director of the budget, he decided to try something of the sort. He added a new ministry, the budget ministry, to his official household, with M. Georges Bonnet, his righthand man, at the ministry of war, as its first portfolio holder.

The minister of the budget will have the same responsibility as General Dawes had, but his task will involve different difficulties, due to the differences between the system of government. He will be expected to pare down appropriations to the core and at the same time offend none of the members of parliament who are interested in satisfying the demands of their electors. The experiment is regarded as likely to bring into relief the obstacles to economy that arise from a regime in which the government is at the mercy of parliament.

Medals for waiters, chambermaids, porters and valets, in a country where every other man in the street wears a decoration, is the latest manifestation of the French passion for self-adornment. The Hotel Managers association of France has awarded 850 medals to members of hotel and restaurants' staffs "in recognition of their devotion to duty in looking after the comfort of the guests."

If medals were given in place of tips, some of the recipients would be unable to walk with the weight of the last summer's prosperous American season.

BERLIN, Nov. 14—Several of the tars engaged in Max Reinhardt's Berlin theaters are finding life very strenuous this season. For reasons chiefly economic, Reinhardt's leading actors in a number of instances must impersonate roles requiring different make-ups, and widely differing mental attitudes.

For example, Eugen Kloepper, who played a star part in the Salzburg festival plays, appears in the gorgeous costume of a Chinese mandarin, speaking the flowery language of the Orient, in Klabund's "The Chalked Circle" at the Deutsches theater until he is poisoned by his jealous wife and dies. His resurrection behind the scenes must then be followed by a mad taxicab dash to the Komodie theater at the other end of Berlin, where in Galsworthy's "Loyalties" he appears as the attorney Jacob Twisden, with a completely changed voice, manner and make-up.

His colleague Hans Thimig appears with Kloepper as Prince Paol in the first act of "The Chalked Circle" and then hurries to the adjoiningammerspiele theater where he is transferred into a bolshevik parading under the name of St. John in Mel's "Apostelspiel" only to return to the Deutsches theater for the last act of "The Chalked Circle," in which he becomes the emperor of China.

Carl Goetz, who also had a star part of a pious grandfather in the "Apostelspiel" and then taxies to "Loyalties" in which he impersonated the Italian wine merchant Ricardo. Finally, he returns to resume his grandfather role.

The record of these Reinhardt stars, however, was surpassed last season by the comedian Paul Morgan, who appeared each night in five different roles and cabarets, taking a different role in each.

Sausages alternating with bronze statues of dancing girls, flashing evening gowns surrounded by plaster-of-Paris models of dogs, bulls or horses, prosaic shoes traieled by copper cupid can be seen in Berlin's downtown display windows during November. The reason for these incongruous assemblages is the dire need of German plastic artists, to relieve which the Berlin business men's association has placed show window place at their disposal. Each show window displays a sign "help Berlin's sculptors."

Germany's women athletic champions recently were brought together in a unique dinner party. Frau Neppach, holder of the German women's tennis title, who failed to wrest the world title from the great Suzanne Lenglen in the Vienna tournament recently, invited the following champions to dinner: Frau Samek, golf; Fraulein Aschenbacher, high jumping; Fraulein Rieve, javelin throwing; Frau Brockhoff, ice skating; Frau Gordan, fencing; Fraulein Feindt, fancy riding.

A record of this unusual gathering was made for posterity in the form of two contrasting photographs, one showing the champions wearing highly fashionable dinner gowns, and the other depicting them in their athletic garb, each member of the party holding a symbol of her specialty, such as a tennis racquet, golf club or riding whip.

IF CANNED, IT'S FRESH

Much has been done to further promote the quality of canned foods. The best canners today include in their contracts with growers that crops must be harvested at the peak of maturity. This assures maximum quality and flavor. Immediate preparation, canning and cooking by scientific methods enables canners to produce foods with all the natural flavor and tenderness of fresh foods, making them in reality even "fresher than the fresh."

Vitamins—all dietitians agree—are essential to health and growth. And canned foods are rich in vitamins.

The housewife who stocks her pantry with canned foods thus assures that her family will have during winter months the foods that make for health and growth.

Albany Punctures Championship Hope Of Husky Franklin County Hi Eleven

Albany high's game little football eleven, which once or twice before this year has given strong evidence of going some place, finally arrived in Macon park Friday afternoon, the purple and gold fighters turned back every charge of the Franklin County high school huskies and galloped off with a nothing-nothing moral victory.

By the scoreless tie, Albany high punctured the championship hopes of the Russellville aggregation. Before the game Russellville anticipated an easy victory and an uninterrupted march toward a state championship. Before the game was over, Russellville was glad of an even break. The light Albany eleven, in the final stages of the game, bored down deep into Russellville territory and once was on the Red and Black's five yard marker.

Only once was Russellville able to maintain a sustained offensive. That was broken up when Wade took the ball from McRight, as he drove through tackle on Albany's five yard line, and raced past the middle of the field for the most spectacular play of the entire game. The play not only stopped cold the Russellville smashes, but it gave renewed confidence to the Albany team and henceforth it played with inspiration, as well as desperation.

Except in this one offensive, the Albany line, sadly outweighed by giving blow for blow, fought back the charges of the heavy Russellville backs. The Pappenburg brothers at end, Thompson and Mitchell at tackle, Zanvit and Hurst at guards and Hughes at center stiffened every time the Russellville charge carried into Albany territory and took the ball on downs or forced Russellville to punt.

The Albany backfield played one of the best offensive games of the year. It showed a weakness at times in breaking up passes, but backed up the line well. Perie probably was the most consistent ground gainer. Thombs was watched too closely to permit him to break away on an of his long end runs, but he was a consistent threat. Drake did a large part of the blocking and picked up some yardage of his own. Wade, after his gallop down the field after getting the ball away from McRight, seemed almost unstoppable. He ripped and slashed through the right side of his own line for consistent gains.

Friday's encounter was one of the best football games seen here in several years and at its conclusion teachers, spectators, and students rushed forward to heap their felicitations upon the heads of the Purple and Gold warriors.

In Rogers, Russellville brought here one of the best running backfield men seen in many months on a local gridiron. Rogers did everything well. After he entered the game he called the signals, ran the team, placed his men for offense and defense, carried the ball punted and passed. Considerable of an assignment, but the most singular feature of the situation was that Rogers did them all well.

The line ups:
 Russellville
 Micken I.E. Pappenburg
 G. McRight LT Mitchell
 Lucas RG Hurst
 Horton C Hughes
 Smith RG Zanvit
 Gibson RT Thompson
 Richeson RE Pappenburg
 White QB Perie
 Richardson LHB Thombs
 Clark RHB Drake
 R. McRight FB Wade
 Referee: Ford (Auburn); Umpire Ashwander (Birmingham-Southern); Head Linesman, Hagerman (Auburn).

First Quarter
 Russellville was offside on the opening kick-off and kicked again after drawing the penalty. Albany failed to gain kicked. Russellville found the going rough and kicked to Perie who returned 20, but fumble. As he went out of bounds. After three thrusts Perie kicked to Russellville's 22 yard line. Richardson picked up two yards at right tackle, but when McRight hit right tackle, the backfield was in motion and Russellville drew a penalty. Russellville kicked. On the fourth down, Perie punted. McRight got four at left tackle but Russellville drew a 15 yard penalty for clipping from behind and punted. A pass was wide, Perie got three at right end and Thombs lost three at right end. Perie kicked to Russellville's six yard stripe. It was a near safety. Richardson was stopped at right tackle without gain. On a fake punt, McRight hit left tackle for seven. Richardson made two more at left tackle.

Second Quarter
 Richardson then punted out on his own 31 yard line. Clark intercepted a pass on his 21 yard line. Three bucks failed and Russellville kicked to the middle of the field. Thombs lost three at left end, but Perie, on a fake, made six at right end. Hill went in for Micken. Thombs found one at center and Perie's punt was short going to Russellville's 40 yard line.

Russellville's backfield was in motion during the series of three bucks and on fourth down Russellville kicked without return.

Albany could not gain and Mitchell punted on Russellville's 35 yard stripe.

Richardson found four at right tackle, then two more at left tackle and McRight hammered right tackle for the initial first down of the game. Richardson tossed a pass to McRight near the sidelines for a 20 yard advance. McRight grabbed the ball over the head of a defending back. Another pass by the same combination placed the ball on Albany's 15 yard line, but a third one failed as the half ended.

Third Quarter
 Rogers went in at quarter for Russellville. Cook went in for Smith, but stayed only one play. Albany kicked off. Russellville immediately launched a withering offensive in the meantime sending in many substitutions.

Rogers smashed right tackle for two. A pass failed and McRight made it first down at left tackle. Rogers swept right end for nine. Richardson was stopped at left guard, but Rogers hammered center for first down. McRight hit left tackle for six and Rogers made it first down at right end. The ball was on Albany's 20 yard line and the sidelines were calling hoarsely to the Purple to hold. The chorus was led by Spencer, injured Albany fullback who is out with a broken leg.

Richardson got one at left tackle. On a delayed buck, McRight got 2 at right guard. On another delayed buck, Rogers picked up five at right tackle. Rogers raced down the sidelines to Albany's 8 yard line. Richardson was stopped at center. Rogers got one at left tackle. McRight juggled the ball and Wade grabbed it and raced to Russellville's 35 yard line before being overtaken.

Thombs failed at left end, but Russellville was offside and drew a five yard penalty. Perie hit right tackle for four and Drake left tackle for first down. A pass failed, but Perie then caught a pass on Russellville's 10 yard line. Wade shot through right tackle for two and on a fake, Drake went to Russellville's four yard line. Thombs was stopped at right end, losing two. The ball was brought back and Albany penalized for not having sufficient men on the line of scrimmage. A pass went over the goal line and it was Russellville's ball on her own 20 yard line.

One play was stopped, then Rogers raced around right end for 15. McRight failed at right end and Rogers met the same fate twice in the same spot, being hurt on the last play. He stayed in the game, Richardson punted. Albany was penalized 15 yards for holding, the ball being put in play on Albany's five yard line. Albany kicked out to the 30 yard marker. Rogers got two at right tackle as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter
 Rogers made first down at right end. He hit center for one and right guard for four. Hurst stopped him on the next play without gain. Rogers went out of bounds for no gain and the ball was Albany's on her own 15 yard line. Drake hit left guard for one and Wade right tackle for five. He was stopped there on the next play. Mitchell kicked to Albany's 40 yard line. McRight got one at right tackle, Rogers four at right end, two at right tackle and one at left tackle, the ball going over.

Perie was halted at right tackle, but Wade made four there. Bowen went in for G. McRight. A pass was blocked. Mitchell kicked and Pappenburg stopped the receiver without return on Russellville's 35 yard line. A buck failed, but McRight caught another 15 yard toss. Rogers swung around left tackle for seven and made first down at right end. Thompson broke through and hurled McRight for a 5 yard loss. Two passes failed and Richardson kicked to Albany's ten yard line. Wade got five at right tackle and Drake four at the same place. Wade was stopped at left tackle and Mitchell kicked, without return. A pass failed and Rogers raced around right end for 20 as the whistle blew.

Tulane plays Sewanee with the Purple Tiger favored as probably upsetting the dope due to the terrific pace that Tulane has kept up this season. A let down is expected. The Tennessee-Mississippi A. & M. game is considered a tossup by experts. A. & M. has held Alabama, favored as the years champions to the lowest score of the season while Tennessee has achieved an enviable record in beating Georgia Washington and Lee battles Maryland at Washington with odds favoring the Generals.

Advices from ticket headquarters last night revealed that all but 1,500 seats have been sold for the game. 6,000 are expected to witness the battle. In Atlanta at the same time Alabama battles Florida. Georgia Tech will meet Georgia for the first time in many years. 32,000 tickets had been sold up to Saturday morning for what is described as being football classic of the day. Auburn meets Vanderbilt in Birmingham with the Commodores of Dan McGugin favored as the winners.

LAWRENCE DOWNS DECATUR HI 27-0

Decatur Drives In The Last Quarter But Is Halted

Lawrence County High school

took advantage of every break offered Friday afternoon at Moulton and defeated Decatur High school after a brave stand 27-0. Lawrence County showed a good offensive and drove the Decatur lads back over their own goal line on two occasions. The other touchdowns were the direct result of fumbled punts.

Lawrence County scored in the first quarter on straight football, driving down the field for the first touchdown. Goal was kicked. A fumbled punt in the second quarter paved the way for the second touchdown.

In the third quarter Decatur high put up a strong defense to halt the Moulton lads Lawrence County drove to the 5 yard line as the quarter ended. They went over in the first part of the fourth quarter and their later recovered another fumble which led to a touchdown.

Decatur tried hard to score in the last quarter, driving all the way down the field. Lawrence county halted the march on their own 22 yard line.

Namie and Oldacre showed up well on the defense. Namie is thought to have sustained a broken nose, but continued in the game. Moulton's chief drive was made over their own right tackle, three substitutions being made for the Decatur left tackle.

Following is the Decatur lineup: Robertson RE; Namie RT; Conley RG; Lanier C; Price LG; Hallman LT; Gunn LE; Morrow QB; Bailey LHB; Oldacre RHB; West FB. Substitutions: Phillips for Hallman; Roberts for Phillips; Lewis for Roberts; Bryant for Oldacre, Oldacre for Robertson.

Score by quarters:
